

Download Efficiency And The Social Services

The two activities of social services: Maintenance and people changing. In R.T. Golembiewski et al. (Eds.), Public budgeting and financial management. New York: Dekker. Efficiency is a subject of great intellectual challenge and one that has the potential to make a profound impact throughout the social services industry but which, until now, has not been fully explored by academicians inside or outside the social welfare field. Management Efficiency and the Social Services: a review article MAURICE KOGAN Maurice Kogan is Professor of Government and Social Institutions at Brunel University which he joined in 1967 as Director, Hospital Organization Research Unit. The Department of Health and Social Services (DHSS) has a commitment to continuous quality improvement in order to build one of the most efficient and effective government agencies in the region. Our aim is to improve the quality of care, and health outcomes for our citizens, while also reducing cost in the delivery of our services.